Yale Cordage Performance Synthetic Rope for all your Mining, Utility and Industrial needs.

When your Yale rope needs replacement,
Voto has you covered.

Offering the toughest rope for the toughest applications: Yale Cordage Ultrex

Founded in 1938 by Harry H. Vogelsong, The Voto Manufacturers Sales Company has grown to serve a diverse commercial and industrial base in the Ohio Valley region and throughout the United States. We are a leading distributor of rigging products, custom wire rope, chain and hose assemblies, as well as ground engaging attachments and have a long history of doing what it takes to meet the needs of our valued customers.

Early in the 1940s, cut lengths of wire rope became a large part of our operation. Due to the rapid growth of open pit coal mines forming to serve the war effort—having a local source that would cut wire rope to length (customer specifications) and deliver to jobsites was a welcome service to the mine operators. Business expanded to customers within Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

After the end of World War II, we expanded and offered additional product lines such as: steel castings, buckets, teeth and earth moving expendables for mining machinery, as well as cutting edges, track rollers and pads for tractors.

Early in the 1950s, a major customer moved its mining operations to Southeastern Ohio and invited Voto to be a source for its supplies. This necessitated the formation of a branch office and warehouse in this area. Later in the decade, Voto continued expansion of customers in Western Pennsylvania, making it necessary to establish a branch office and warehouse in Clarion, Pennsylvania. Additional product lines were added, principally industrial lubricants, industrial rubber products and hydraulic hose and fittings.

It was during this period that the opportunity to own stock in the Company was offered to employees wishing to participate. This led to further involvement in management and ownership by employees who then became officers and members of the Board of Directors. Harry H. Vogelsong, the principal stockholder, retired in 1976.

In 1981, the Company was organized into an Employee Stock Ownership Plan (ESOP). Each Voto Sales employee is an owner-participant in the Company and dedicated to your operational success. This company-wide commitment keeps us at the leading edge of industry innovations, as well as the ability to leverage competitive pricing with consistency.
